BRENNAN MATCHED WITH CHAMPION FLYNN'S STABLE TO INVADGE WEST

Jack Dempsey is coming out of his corner again after a year's absence. And, there isn't much in the field to put against him except the same gang of heavies who used to be pickin' for him before he took over the title. For one solid year the public has listened to the battle of typewriters carried on between Dempsey and Carpenter. They scrapped both machines for junk when the Frenchman went back to Paris.

Dempsey, with his moving picture contract fulfilled and his battle of the courts disposed of favorably, wants to fight.

His first job will be to polish off Billy Mike at Benton Harbor on Labor Day, which ought not to be hard for Dempsey, according to the dope being handed around regarding the condition of Mike. The best sporting authorities in the country think this will be the easiest kind of a set-up for Jack.

After the Benton Harbor tea party is disposed of, Dempsey will face a rough party by the name of Bill Brennan, providing some promoter can count out enough kale to suit all the parties concerned.

The last time they met, Dempsey hit Leo P. Flynn's boxer so hard on the chin that his ankle snapped. Brennan recently said that he believed he could have taken Jack on that occasion if the accident hadn't happened. He denies that it was the effect of the concussion from Dempsey's glove that broke his leg. He says he tried to shift too quickly.

However, the accident is sufficient argument for another trial and Jack Kearns isn't partial as to who wins. Dempsey, so long as there isn't a bundle of silk flags attached to the proceedings.

Brennan established a name of being a K. O. scrapper by piling up a total of 16 consecutive knockouts. He has another string of ten.

He is a hard hitter. Such young hopes as Bob Roper, Gene Tunney, Martin Burke and Bob Marlin have wisely steered away from the Brennan fist.

There is a bare possibility that Phoenix fight fans will see Brennan in action here this fall if Leo P. Flynn carries out his threat of making an invasion of the west with his stable of fighters which is generally conceded to be the biggest and classiest stable of fighters in the world.

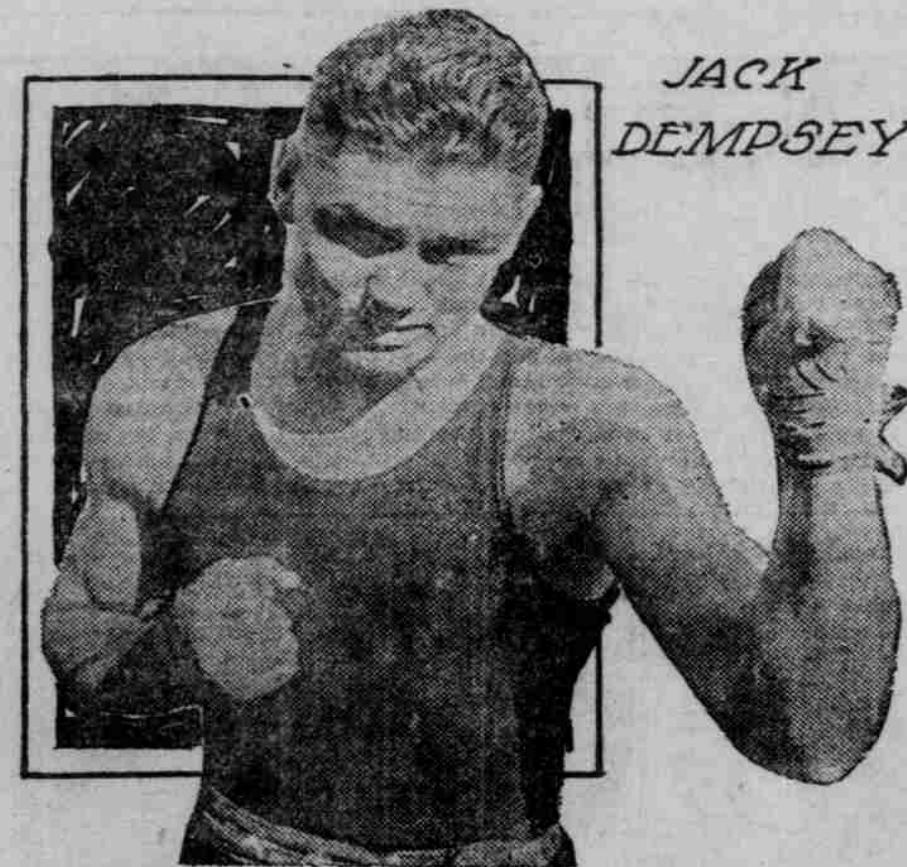

Carl Morris, who has met the best of them in the heavyweight division, has been quietly sojourning in Phoenix for the past few months, and only those in the know have seen the big locomotive engineer getting himself back into condition for his return to the squared circle.

Morris is better right now than he ever was in his life. He is in the pink of condition and the favored few who have seen him in action at Riverside park have been astonished at his lightness of foot and splendid physical condition.

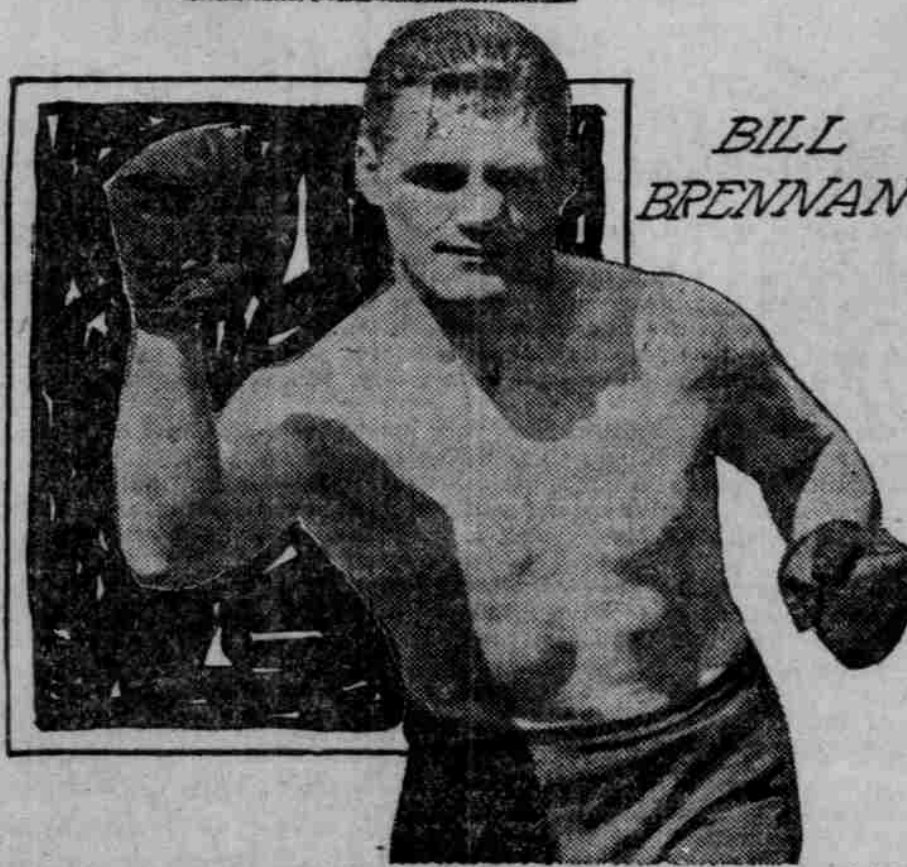

B. H. McAhren, the hustling and far sighted matchmaker for the American Legion here, has decided that the time is ripe to stage a heavyweight affair in Phoenix, and if the necessary arrangements can be made, will match Morris with Brennan some time this fall.

If this match is consummated, it's a cinch that they'll have to call out all the scoundrels in the state to regulate the crowd that this proposed bout is bound to bring to Phoenix.

McAhren has been trying his darndest to give the fight fans of Phoenix the best that money can bring here, and if he gets the patronage he will go to any end to bring classy fighters to this section. In meeting Leo P.

JACK DEMPSEY

BILL BRENNAN

Flynn's western representative, the other day, McAhren told him that he would bring the best of Leo's stable from New York providing the fans evidenced a desire to support the highest class of boxers.

A casual glance at the cast of characters making up Leo P. Flynn's all-star stable will give the admirer or scrapper an idea of what is in store for them if McAhren starts a series of scraps between these good eastern men and the boys of the west.

Flynn has under his wing at the present time, Bill Brennan, heavyweight; Kid Norfolk, light heavyweight; Leo Johnson, lightweight; Andy O'Boyle, welterweight; Panama Joe Gans, colored welterweight champion; Bud Dempsey, bantamweight;

Jack Phelan, light heavyweight; Barney Adair, lightweight; Roy Moore, bantamweight; Johnny Russell, bantamweight; Bobby Hanson, paperweight; Pete Hartley, lightweight; and Eddie O'Hare, middleweight, who has just finished winning 12 out of 13 starts by the K. O. route.

Flynn claims to have the greatest aggregation of fighting material in the world under his management, and there is nobody disputing him. Leo is one of those rare birds among pugilistic managers who insist upon his fighters giving the public action every minute they are in the ring, which in a measure has accounted for the remarkable success attained by him in the fight game.

BANQUET OF EPWORTH LEAGUE DRAWS MANY

Young people from most all of the Phoenix churches have had plates reserved at the banquet of the first Arizona District Epworth League conference, which will be held in the Central M. E. church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Other young people desiring to attend may have plates reserved by phoning 3607.

The conference will consist of four speakers of the central office of the Epworth league at Nashville, Tenn. Rev. Ralph E. Noller, Miss Helen Boulware and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stockwell. The various Epworth leagues of the state will send their representatives. A hearty welcome is extended to the young people of the various churches of Phoenix who have reserved plates at the banquet and to as many others who may attend.

The object in extending the young people of the different churches of the city an invitation is that their ideas in conducting their societies are helpful when applied to the Epworth league work, and vice versa.

The main part of the program tomorrow night will consist of the banquet, welcome address by H. C. Jones and followed by an address by Rev. Ralph E. Noller. This will only be the beginning of the conference, which will last for three days. The next meeting will be held at 9 to 12 Saturday. The dates of the following meetings will be announced.
